

David Finch

inspirational speaker
best-selling author

Book Now / Contact
david@davidfinch.com

Learn More
davidfinch.com/speaking

Married in 2003 and diagnosed five years later with Asperger syndrome, New York Times best-selling author David Finch has committed himself to relentless self-improvement (sometimes to a comical extent). David is a nationally sought-after speaker, delivering messages of inspiration, hope, and empowerment to college campuses, international conferences, and corporations.

Keynotes and Conference Topics

Asperger's For The Win: Creating Unlikely Successes at School, Work, and Home

David relates his hilarious and undeniably winning quest to live a happier life with Asperger's. Perfect for anyone who needs a healthy dose of inspiration.

"Oh, You Needed Me to Pay Attention?"

Classroom Perspective from a Deceptively Remarkable Student

This presentation is specifically geared for educators, administrators, and parents who find themselves occasionally baffled by their students. For K-12 and collegiate educators. Approved for CEUs.

"Oh, You Needed Me to Pay Taxes?"

Successful Transitions for People with Autism

Dave shares transition strategies for people on the autism spectrum and their families — from staying on-task to living with autonomy and adaptability.

A great speaker. He held the audience captive.

— Dan Marleau, University of Wisconsin - Madison

A very engaging speaker ... imparts incredible insight into living with autism with humor and sensitivity.

— Dr. Gail Richard, Eastern Illinois University

David Finch is hilarious.

— Michael Palascak, The Late Show with David Letterman, The Tonight Show

featured on

